Saturday 10:30 AM: Meeting with TA to discuss progress & SCRUM Retrospective

Sprint Review

- Go over completed user stories
- Add new tasks that we need to work on

The screenshot displays a Jira interface with a Kanban board. The top navigation bar includes a 'Backlog' dropdown and a '+ New view' button. Below this is a filter bar labeled 'Filter by keyword or by field'. The board consists of five columns:

- Backlog (5 items, Story Points: 0): Contains two draft items. The first is 'Suggestions in HTML page' with a 'High' priority and 'Developer' role. The second is 'List of Classes' with a 'Low' priority and 'Developer' role.
- Approved (Due: Wednesday 11/9) (2 items, Story Points: 0): Contains 'cse110-fa22-group31 #12' with a 'Low' priority, 'design' role, and 'Planner & Designer' role. The second item is a draft 'Create GitHub Wiki Documentation'.
- In progress (Due: Wednesday 11/9) (4 items, Story Points: 13): Contains 'cse110-fa22-group31 #7' with an 'Urgent' priority, 'feature' role, and 'Developer' role. The second item is 'cse110-fa22-group31 #8' with a 'Low' priority and 'Developer' role.
- In review (0 items, Story Points: 0): Empty column.
- Done (1 item, Story Points: 5): Contains 'cse110-fa22-group31 #10' with a 'Urgent' priority, 'design' role, and 'Planner & Designer' role.

Planning Poker

- Do planning poker for all new tasks created
 - Rating difficulty of tasks (~5 points for a task that requires one person to work entire 1 week sprint)
- Assign new tasks
